Conditions We Treat

Pelvic Pain presents in many forms, however, pelvic nerve pain and pelvic muscle dysfunction are almost always present. Our ultrasound-guided office based treatment aims to treat the pelvic nerve pain and pelvic muscle dysfunction reducing pain and improving function for our patients.

Chronic Pelvic Pain Syndrome (CPPS)

Chronic pelvic pain syndrome (CPPS) is pain or discomfort anywhere from the belly button to the mid-thigh lasting 6 months or more.

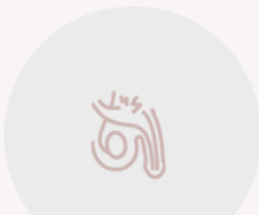

Endometriosis

Endo is a disorder in which tissue similar to the lining of the uterus grows outside of the uterus causing pelvic pain and infertility.

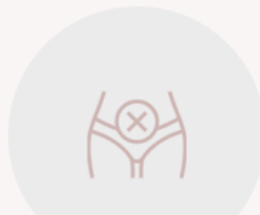

Adenomyosis

Affecting 20-35% of women, pain and symptoms associated with adenomyosis can overlap with endometriosis

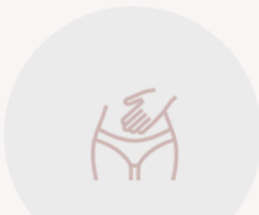

Erectile Dysfunction

Affecting around 10% of men in the U.S., erectile dysfunction can cause problems within their intimate life as well as depression and anxiety, but we want you to know that almost all cases of erectile dysfunction are treatable.

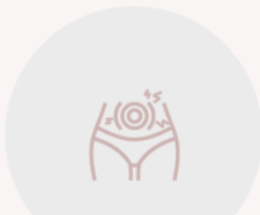

Vaginismus

Chronic pelvic pain syndrome (CPPS) is pain or discomfort anywhere from the belly button to the mid-thigh lasting 6 months or more.

Vulvodynia

Occurring at any age, as many as one in six women in the United States may experience the symptoms of vulvodynia at some point in their lives.

Levator Ani Syndrome

Affecting both women and men, levator ani syndrome, also known as rectal pain, causes pain within the rectal area and other areas of the pelvic floor.

Chronic Prostatitis

A common condition affecting 8.2% of men, chronic prostatitis is characterized by chronic pelvic pain and voiding symptoms in the absence of a clear bacterial infection.

Symptoms Of Pelvic Pain

While the severity of chronic pelvic pain symptoms range, symptoms are usually related to gynecologic, urologic, gastrointestinal, and musculoskeletal conditions and exhibit a wide range of symptoms in both women and men.
